

"The truth does not change according to our ability to stomach it."
- Flannery O'Connor

This class is for those who love to write. Beyond that, it's a class for those who are interested in working to improve their writing through study, practice, and revision.

During the semester, you'll be writing a short story and several poems, as well as reading contemporary fiction and poetry. You'll also be taking part in active discussion, writing editorial critiques, and being an all-around, invested creative human so that we may grow as artists.

This section will be online and asynchronous.

CREATIVE WRITING

EN 3303 - CAMPUS 5
(ASYNCHRONOUS)

Section
501

Professor: Dr. Michael Kardos
Questions? mkardos@english.msstate.edu